

Mike Ullman

Former Chairman & CEO
JCPenney

"Plano continues to be a vibrant, fast-growing city that provides an ideal environment for our home office and a great community for our many associates who live here. We've had a presence here for more than 15 years, and our location has presented a tremendous source of diverse talent and key resources that have been instrumental to our company's success."