"Plano has everything in place. It is a great city with a solid pro-business government, a great mayor and all the elements that make a city work well. This is also a city people love to live in. Plano offers diverse, affordable housing. Nearly 85 percent of Perot Systems' people live within 15 minutes of our campus, so it's easy for them to commute to work. Back in 1979, I bought several thousand acres in Plano believing that if we moved the EDS headquarters there, others would come – and they did! Today, the development success of the Legacy business park is a dream come true. The fine City of Plano, Texas is the real magnet."
