Chief People Officer
Yum! Brands

"To be the preeminent pizza brand, we have to have the best marketers, the best finance, and best operations people. So attracting and retaining talent are some of our most important company goals. There is a good talent base here in Plano. I've had great career growth here. There are so many opportunities and you are surrounded by a lot of smart people here at Pizza Hut, but also neighbors, friends, people from church that have great careers as well, so you are in a really good environment for personal growth and family growth."
