Retired, President, Neuromodulation Division
St. Jude Medical

“As the neuromodulation division of St. Jude Medical, we are focused on developing, manufacturing, and marketing advanced technologies used by physicians to treat chronic pain and other neurological disorders. We selected Plano as our home because of its positive business, academic, and community environment.

Plano offers easy access to highly-ranked hospitals, great universities, affordable housing, and DFW International Airport—a cost-efficient transportation and distribution hub. On balance, Plano is a great place to build a great business.”
